General Problems with Software:

- CORS error under certain local testing environments
- If a current session is expired, sometimes the front end will not refresh and boot the user to the login page.
- Deleting an entire text field for any of the two date selectors will cause the site to crash
- Pressing the login button in the top right corner brings up a 'Method Not Allowed' page
- Refreshing the page when not logged in causes a 'Method Not Allowed' page. At this point the user cannot get out without pressing the back button
- Inserting massive inputs into either username or password field can cause a "Method Not Allowed" error. Unexpected for normal usage
